PREMIER REPLIES TO GEN. SMUTS.

BRITAIN'S POLICY IN PALESTINE.

NO RETREAT FROM BALFOUR DECLARATION.

THE BEST FOR BOTH.

London, Oct. 26.
The Prime Minister, in reply to General Smuts, who has criticised the British Government's recent re-statement of its policy in Palestine, says he feels sure that Gen. Smuts' views are based on an incomplete telegraphic summary of the contents of the statement and that, when he has read the full text, he will admit it cannot fairly be described as a retreat from the Balfour Declaration.
That declaration, he adds, "explicitly provided that nothing should be done which might prejudice the civil and religious rights of the existing non-Jewish communities in Palestine."
"Since the acceptance of the Palestine Mandate, the trend of events and, in particular, some of the methods adopted in the establishment of Jewish communities have given to us grave concern to a degree which, in the light of the Hope Simpson Report, has convinced us of the necessity for special measures to ensure that the double obligation contained in the Mandate is fulfilled."

Equal Weight.
"The Government have affirmed the view endorsed by the Permanent Mandates Commission and the Council of the League that the obligations laid down by the Mandate in regard to the two sections of the population are of equal weight."

"You will also recall that the Commission expressed the view that had the Mandatory Government concerned itself more closely with the social and economic adaptation of the Arab population to new conditions due to Jewish immigration it would have served the interests of both sections of the population."

"Our present policy is in conformity with that suggestion and envisages a scheme of more methodical agricultural development which, as is shown in the Hope Simpson report, is the only method whereby an additional Jewish agricultural settlement will be possible consistently with the conditions laid down in Article Six of the Mandate which enjoins that the rights and position of the other sections of population are not to be prejudiced."

No Interruption.

"The Government have made it clear in their statement of policy that measures for development are envisaged, in the interests of which Jews and Arabs can both share."

"Neither as regards its land policy nor as regards immigration do the Government aim at crystallising the Jewish national home at its present stage of development."

"The statement of policy contains no stoppage or even suspension of the colonisation on the large amount of land yet undeveloped already in Jewish ownership."
"As regards non-rural immigration, it has been the consistent policy of the succeeding Governments that Jewish immigration should not exceed the economic capacity of the country to absorb new entrants. The new statement reaffirms this principle in language which recognises that owing to various causes it has been imperfectly applied in the past."

Zealous Unsatisfied.

"The Government has recognised that the policy outlined is bound to be a disappointment to the hopes of the more zealous elements of both communities, but they are confident that on a fuller appreciation of the facts and consideration of the policy based upon them, an increasing body of unbiased opinion will be convinced that, in its main lines, this policy is not only in accordance with mandatory obligations but is designed in the best interests of the two sections of the Palestine population, whose welfare is a matter of sincere concern to His Majesty's Government."

THE CHLORINATION OF WATER.

QUESTIONS AT SANITARY BOARD MEETING.

FEARS OF CHINESE.

Problems connected with the chlorination of water may be discussed at to-morrow's meeting of the Sanitary Board when Mr. T. N. Chau, pursuant to notice, will ask:—
"In view of the fear expressed by certain members of the Chinese community that the frequent drinking of chlorinated water might be injurious to health, will the Head of the Sanitary Department inform the Board:—

- Whether in the opinion of the Medical Officers of Health such is the case or not?
- Whether the quantity of chlorinated lime used on each and every occasion is prescribed and supervised by expert officers?
- Whether there is any other chemical substance of less pronounced odour and taste which could be effectively substituted for chlorinated lime?
- If the answer to question (iii) is in the negative, can anything be done to remove or lessen the very disagreeable odour and taste?"

TERRIBLE HAVOC OF A SHELL.

NEW YORK REPORT OF BADEN INCIDENT.

New York, Oct. 26.
The New York Times is in receipt of a message from a correspondent at Sao Paulo, declaring that twenty-one persons were killed and 71 seriously injured by the shell which hit the German s.s. Baden on Oct. 25.
The captain of the police alleges that he is entirely to blame for the tragic incident.—Reuter's American Service.

Berlin, Oct. 25.
The Hamburg-Amerika Line's steamer Baden reported to Berlin that it was hit by a shell from a fort and eighteen persons, mostly Spanish emigrants to Argentina, were killed and wounded. The Brazilian Minister of Justice stated that the Baden sailed without showing her National flag and a warning shot was fired. Unfortunately it hit her. The Brazilian Government hoped to settle this very regrettable incident in a friendly manner.

AUSTRALIAN DEBT DIFFICULTIES.

NO QUESTION OF ANY REPUDIATION.

MR. SCULLIN'S VIGOROUS DENIAL AT OXFORD.

FINANCIAL REFORM.

London, Oct. 26.
The Prime Minister of Australia, Mr. Scullin, in a speech at Oxford last night, again repudiated the suggestion that Australia was considering a refusal to acknowledge her debts, and said that Australia was just as unlikely to repudiate her debts as was Britain.
He emphasised the overwhelming British character of the Australian population, of whom ninety-eight per cent. were British.
He added: "We are part of the British Commonwealth of Nations, and we intend to remain so. Our relations with the home country are as cordial as they have ever been, and it is not a question of strengthening those relations but of re-opening them."

Balancing The Budget.
Mr. Scullin's statement followed cabled comments upon political difficulties in Australia in connection with the meeting of the Australian Commonwealth Parliament on Thursday to pass legislation necessary to balance the Budget.

The Prime Minister emphasised that the Commonwealth Government had given an undertaking that it would meet Australia's loan obligations, and that undertaking would be honoured. He was confident that all the State Governments would do the same.

Mr. Bavin's Confidence.

Meanwhile a message from Sydney, following the defeat of the Nationalists at the polls, and the Labour's speech attacking the report of Sir Otto Niemeyer, states that Mr. Bavin, the Nationalist Prime Minister of New South Wales, has issued a statement to the following effect:
"The action of the New South Wales electors in refusing to support the policy laid down at the Premiers' Conference would accentuate the country's financial difficulties and would prolong the period necessary for recovery, but there was no need for panic as he felt that Mr. Lang, despite his reckless threats for electioneering purposes, when faced with the realities of the situation, would not take any action likely to endanger the financial stability of the State or the Commonwealth.—Reuter and British Wireless."

N.S.W. Elections.

Sydney, Oct. 26.
The elections in New South Wales, wherein voting was compulsory and on the preferential basis, has resulted in a landslide in favour of Labour.

The present state of the parties is as follows:

Labour	54
Nationalist	35
Country Party	13

Before the dissolution, the Government consisted of a coalition of the Country and Nationalist Parties, the House being made up as follows:

Labour	40
Nationalist	33
Country Party	12

Mr. Lang, the leader of the Labour Party, who personally polled a huge majority, declared that the result proved that Australia would never surrender her standard of living and would never tolerate outside interference with her domestic affairs. Reference is here made to the recent report of Sir Otto Niemeyer, who went to Australia to advise upon the best way out of the economic crisis and advocated general economy.—Reuter.

On the occasion of the impending departure for Home of Rear-Admiral R.A.S. Hill, C.B.E., a most enjoyable dance was held aboard H.M.S. Tamar on Saturday. There were over 300 people present, and music was supplied by the band of the Somerset Light Infantry.

CANTON UNIONS PRAISED.

M. VANDERVELDE SAYS THEY ARE NOT "RED."

DOING GOOD WORK.

Young China, as represented by students and Trade Union members in Canton, was given a good name by M. Vandervelde, the Belgian ex-Minister and famous Socialist, when interviewed by a Telegraph representative this morning.

"My impressions of the Trade Union movement in Canton," he said, "leads me to believe that it is not a Socialist Party, but a very strong Labour organisation. It is very modern and runs on the same lines as the Trade Union of England and Belgium and other European countries."

"I am sincerely looking forward to the time when the Chinese Unions will join the International Federation of Trade Unions."
"Is there any tendency towards Communism? Well, I consider the present situation shows a large decline in sympathy towards this doctrine. The Labour Unions of Canton can never be described as Communist. They are peaceful and they adopt the same principles as those operating in Europe. As a matter of fact, the Canton Trade Unions are often in conflict with the Communists."

"The Trade Unions in Canton and other parts of China are doing good work, and they gave me a very good impression. They are modern and do not indulge in arbitrary or intimidatory methods to attain their ends. They work on friendly relations with all. They are also on excellent good terms with the Kuomintang."

TWO MORE STOLEN MOTOR CARS.

BOTH LATER RECOVERED BY POLICE.

The loss and subsequent recovery of two more motor cars, which had been left parked in public places, have been reported to the police over the week-end, the circumstances being identical with those of previous incidents which have occurred during the past week.

Mr. D. A. Rushton notified the police that he had left his car on the stand outside the Star Ferry pier, on the Hongkong side, on Saturday night and that it was subsequently stolen. The car was later found by the police outside the Hongkong Cricket Club.

"According to another report received from Kowloon, Mr. Blackmorg lost his car from outside Claremont Hotel in Austin Road on Saturday night. It was subsequently recovered by the police."

RUSSIAN BAKER'S ESCAPE.

ALLEGES AN ATTACK WITH IRON BAR.

AMUSING PASSAGES WITH SOLICITOR.

NIGHT BE AN ANGEL.

An incident which occurred in the bakery of Messrs. Lane Crawford, Ltd., Wanchai, on Friday was mentioned before Mr. Lindsell at the Central Police Court this morning when a Chinese employee was charged by Mr. M. Piankoff, head baker, with assault.

Mr. Horace Lo appeared for the defendant and entered a plea of not guilty.
Giving evidence the complainant, who spoke in broken English, said that the defendant, who worked on the ground floor of the bakery went to the upper floor where witness told him that the motor was overheated and that it could not be used then. The defendant went downstairs but returned at about one o'clock. He had some icing mixture and started the motor in second gear, which he should not have done.

Witness went up, and, pushing the defendant aside, put the motor in first gear. He had never objected to men from downstairs using his motor before although they had often gone upstairs to do their mixing.

Iron Bar as Weapon.

The defendant again went downstairs and witness returned to his work. The defendant came upstairs for a third time and shouted "strike the Russian." He was armed with an iron bar and was about to strike witness who put out his right hand to protect himself and received the force of the blow on the hand. The defendant, in swinging the iron bar, lost his balance and turned completely around with his back to witness, who immediately seized the two ends of the bar, with his arms around the defendant and lifted him up. The defendant bit witness who then took him to the Police Station.

His Worship:—You carried him the whole way?

Witness:—Yes, I carried him the whole way because my skin is not so dainty. I did not let go.
When Mr. Lo commenced his cross-examination witness failed to understand some of the questions and remarked that if riddles were put to him he would be unable to answer them as English was not his native language.

Mr. Lo suggested that there had been sufficient time between the time the defendant first went to the machine and his second visit, for the motor to have cooled sufficiently.

"You think so?" asked witness. Mr. Lo:—I don't know.

Witness:—Then how can you say about that?
After further questioning witness said that the motor was still too hot for use but it could be operated in first gear.

Unparliamentary Remark.

Witness denied that he struck defendant first.
Mr. Lo:—I suggest to you that when he came up with this iron bar you struck him.

Witness:—I hit him first? He told you?

Mr. Lo:—Yes.

Witness:—He is a liar.

Mr. Lo suggested that when the defendant went up with the iron bar he was not aggressive and had no intention of striking the witness.

His Worship ridiculed the suggestion which he described as nonsense.

Mr. Lo replied that the defendant had taken the iron bar to make sure that he was not attacked by the witness.

Why Ask?

Mr. Lo (to witness):—You are very much stronger than he is?

Witness:—Well what do you think?

Mr. Lo:—I should think so.

Witness:—Then why do you ask me?
His Worship:—You must answer the question. You agree you are stronger than he?

Witness:—I agree, you bet.

Mr. Lo then asked witness how he had been struck and witness

NEXT PRESIDENT OF BRAZIL.

INVITATION EXTENDED TO SENHOR VARGAS.

ALMOST DEMANDED.

New York, Oct. 26.
The provisional government of the military junta at Rio de Janeiro have despatched a wireless message to Senhor Getulio Vargas, Generalissimo of the Southern Rebel Army, inviting him to assume the Presidency as they have no pretensions to future government.

Senhor Vargas, it may be recalled, was defeated as the Liberal candidate for the Presidency in the Spring elections. It was alleged that the election was not honest, and the result was keenly resented in several States, where revolution has been preparing since.

Vargas practically demanded the Presidency, declaring that the Junta joined the revolution at the last minute and was not suitable to carry on the government.

An earlier message stated that further bloodshed was possible in view of the rivalry of Dr. Osvaldo Aranha, Acting President of Rio Grande do Sul, and Captain Juarez Avora, commander of the Northern Revolutionary Army, to the claims of Vargas.

Utmost consternation is felt in Diplomatic circles at the result of the success of the Brazilian rebels. The State Department is most chagrined because whereas Britain maintained a discreet neutrality throughout the uprising, the United States supported the Federal Government. The feeling summed up is that "Washington backed the wrong horse."

Mr. Stimson announced late today that the "recognition of the new regime in Brazil would be guided by the same policy as the State Department had followed regarding the new governments of Argentina, Peru and Bolivia."—Reuter's American Service.

TWO JUNK MASTERS FINED.

LEAVING HARBOUR WITHOUT CLEARANCE.

Found guilty of leaving the harbour without clearance, the masters of two junks were fined $25 each at the Marine Court this morning before the Hon. Commr. G. F. Hole.

One of the defendants stated that he had taken out a clearance last week, but just as he was about to sail he found that some repairs had to be done before he could do so. After the necessary repairs had been made, he set sail with the clearance he had taken out a few days before, not knowing that it was necessary to take out another.

The other defendant told his Worship that he came in port yesterday and then went out with the intention of getting salt from Cheung Chau. He did not report his arrival, because he did not know the regulations.

He volunteered to demonstrate on Mr. Lo.

Mr. Lo:—Yes, if you don't hurt me.

Witness accordingly demonstrated and then remarked, "Now you know how he struck me. If I had not caught his bar he would have killed me and I would now be an angel."

The case was adjourned till to-morrow, bail being allowed to the defendant in the sum of $10.

POLITICAL FEUDS AMONG MANILA CHINESE.

SERIOUS COMMUNIST OUTRAGES.

KUOMINTANG LEADERS IN CRITICAL CONDITION.

FACTORIES SET AFIRE.

Manila, Oct. 25.
Two prominent members of the executive committee of the Manila branch of the Kuomintang Party are in serious condition at the Philippine General Hospital, suffering from stab wounds; four other Chinese received minor injuries, and two Chinese cigar factories were burned to the ground when repercussions of the trouble in China broke out in Manila's China-town last night.
The incidents were as a climax to several days of intense nervousness among rival parties.

Regarding the fire which caused P500,000 damage, there were clear indications that it was of incendiary origin and traceable to enmity among Chinese.

La Flor de Fideia, a Chinese cigar and cigarette factory owned by Go Sam Ho, was totally burned. The owner stated that his factory was valued at P200,000 and insured for P50,000 with E. D. Keller and Company.

The Alejandria Cigarette Factory, owned by Gan Bu Hong, who is in a serious condition at the Philippine General Hospital, was partially damaged. Damage to contents was estimated at P100,000.

The building was damaged to the extent of P200,000.

Whole Building Gutted.

The fire was first seen on the second story of La Flor de Fideia. It rapidly spread to the whole building housing the two cigar and cigarette factories. The Santa Cruz fire station responded to the first alarm at 2.45 o'clock this morning. All fire stations in Manila responded to succeeding alarms.

The fire was still ranging at 4 o'clock. No persons were injured. A heavy guard of uniformed patrolmen, plain clothes men, and secret service agents were sent to Chinatown. Several petitions from prominent Chinese residents were received requesting police protection.

Ong Chuan Seng, principal of the Chinese Elementary School and also a prominent member of the Nationalist Party in Manila, is hovering between life and death as a result of multiple stab wounds in the abdomen and back.

The others taken to the hospital as a result of various cases of assault were:

Ong Sin, 25; Tua Hi, 8; and Go Ho, 18, all residing at 59 Calle Soler; Tan Tlok Too, 25, residing at 717 Teodora Alonzo.

"Red" Attacks.

Investigation disclosed that the assault cases were caused by the trouble existing between members of the local Nationalist Party and the alleged Chinese communists in Manila.

Chinatown in the neighbourhood of Calle Jaboneros was thrown into considerable commotion early last evening when seven unidentified Chinese in an automobile jumped on Gan Bu Hong and Ong Chuan Seng while they were walking along Calle Jaboneros at about 5:10 p.m.

The assailants, heavily armed with knives and black jacks, according to eye-witnesses, stopped their car alongside their two victims and stabbed them. The thing happened so quickly that several pedestrians did not know anything had happened until they saw the two Chinese drop, seriously wounded. Their assailants jumped into the car and were spirited away.

Shortly after this, four unknown Chinese entered a house at 59 Calle Soler and assaulted all the members of the household, including a 8-year old Chinese boy. Ong Sin, Tua Hi, and Go Ho, were left unconscious by their assailants who also were able to make good their escape.

Tan Tlok Too was standing in front of this house at about 7 o'clock last night when four unidentified Chinese approached him and without much ado knocked him senseless.

The secret service last night arrested Ong Tun, 24, who was identified by Tan Tlok Too as one of his four assailants.

MALOLO'S SECOND WORLD TRIP.

AMERICAN TOURISTS IN HONGKONG.

Described as suggesting the famous Bremen in her squat fun-nels, sloping bow and towering tiers of decks, the Matson Line vessel Malolo arrived at Hongkong yesterday morning on her Pacific cruise.

This is not her first visit to this port, as on her cruise last year, Hongkong was among her many ports of call, when she brought a big party of American business men, representing the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

In the musical Hawaiian language, the word "Malolo" means "flying fish." This ship is admirably adapted for this voyage around the Pacific, which occupies 91 days. She is one of the most commodious and modern liners afloat, having a length of 582 feet, a beam of 33 feet and a displacement of 22,750 tons. She is the flagship of the Matson Line fleet and holds a place as one of the famous luxury liners of the world.

She left San Francisco on September 20, the ports of call being Hilo, Honolulu, Yokohama, Kobe, Chinwangtao, Shanghai, Hongkong, Manila, Paknam, Singapore, Batavia, Macassar, Sydney, Wellington, Auckland, Suva, Pago Pago and back to Honolulu, returning to San Francisco on December 19 in time for Christmas.

The passenger list totals 181,
and with the exception of eleven,
all are Americans. Eight are British, one is Italian, one Greek and one Swedish, and of the total, 119 are ladies, being just over 65 per cent. It is interesting to note that the average age of the passengers is a little over 49 years.

Youngest Express Captain.

Captain Charles A. Berndtson, commanding the Malolo, is one of the youngest skippers of an express liner on any ocean.

Louis D. Stone, a former resident of Peking, and well-known as a traveller throughout the world, is the cruise director, representing the American Express Company. He also directed the Malolo Cruise last year. Assisting Mr.
Stone are William A. Shedd and Wm. R. McPhail.

Deane H. Dickason, accompanied by Mrs. Dickason, is the lecturer and educational director—the fourth time in less than two years that both of them have been to Hongkong on cruises, and Mr.
Dickason's eleventh visit since 1923.

During the present cruise, Mr.
Dickason is producing a series of travel topics in motion pictures, which are to be synchronized with his lectures, incidental music and sound on his return to the United States and are to be released throughout the world about February 1st, 1931. They will treat primarily with native life and customs in the countries visited and, when released, are expected to be known as "Ports of Call."

RIOTS IN JAPAN.

TOKYO STRIKERS CLASH WITH POLICE.

Tokyo, Oct. 25.
Riotous scenes were witnessed late last night in Kameido, a suburb of Tokyo, during a clash between the police and factory workers of the Toyo Muslin Co., who have been on strike for the past five weeks.

While the Police were attempting to suppress groups of strikers who were parading the streets, singing Labour songs, other strikers in the upper storeys of neighbouring buildings started throwing stones on the Police below.

The ensuing fight necessitated the temporary suspension of traffic, as the strikers started stoning passing trams, six of which were damaged.

The disturbance was finally quelled after the arrest of 150 strikers. About a dozen Police and 30 strikers were injured in the melee.—Reuter.

ANTI-MUI TSAI SOCIETY.

CO-OPERATION OF LOCAL BODIES NECESSARY.

ANNUAL MEETING.

Emphasizing that the mui tsai is unquestionably part of the child welfare problem and urging coordination of efforts between various institutions interested in neglected children, the Hon.
English Secretary of the Anti-Mui Tsai Society, Mr. J. D. Bush, addressed a big gathering at the annual meeting of this Society in the auditorium of the Chinese Y.M.C.A. on Saturday afternoon.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. S. C. Yeung, the Chairman of the Anti-Mui-Tsai Society, who was supported by the Hon.
English Secretary, Mr. J. D. Bush, and the Hon. Chinese Secretary, Mr. Wong She-tin. A general committee consisting of thirty well known local residents interested in child welfare work was elected, including Messrs. S. C.
Yeung, Ho Lu, J. D. Bush, Wong
She-tin, Lam Woo, Hung To-fay,
Woo Yee-tung, Wat Lok-ning,
Tsak Tai-kwong, Wong Shum-kan,
Wong Kam-ying, Mak Mui-sang, Cheung Kat-shing, Yung Ting-sang, Moffat Tsui, Cheuk Yau-ko, J. M. Wong, Ngan Kwan-yu, Chan
Kon-sang, Li Shiu-pak, Chan
Ming-shan, Mrs. Tso She-kwong,
Mrs. Yung Yeung Yuk-sin, Rev.
Wong Oi-ton, Rev. Li Kau-yun, Rev. Cheung Chuk-ling, and Brahmacharya, and L. S. Shin.

Chairman's Speech.

In addressing the gathering, the Chairman, Mr. S. C. Yeung, after thanking officials of the Society, said:

"The unwearied support of this Society coming from Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. H. L. Haslewood, the Anti-Slavery and Aborigines Protection Society, the Young Women's Christian Association of Great Britain, Lady Simons and members of the House of Commons, is largely responsible for bringing the unbelievable cruelty of the mui-tsai system to the attention of the British Government at Home, which resulted in the latter's final order for its abolition."

"I would like to thank all the Christian Church unions, the various educational institutions and individuals for their financial assistance and circulation of leaflets and literature in our campaign against the mui-tsai system.
All these efforts are directly responsible for bringing this odious system to the notice of the British Government, resulting in the Colonial Secretary and Hongkong Government signifying their approval of the suggested registration of all mui-tsai in the British Colony. The registration will undoubtedly result in the abolition of the mui-tsai system and realization of a great aim of this Society. Despite this success we hope that all enthusiastic supporters of this great cause will continue their unselfish work to disseminate helpful information and remove misunderstanding among our people. We look forward with confidence towards the restoration of freedom to the four thousand registered mui-tsais, to put them on an equal footing with their sisters and to make this foremost free-port in the Far East a port of freedom for mui-tsais."

Secretary's Report.

The Honorary English Secretary,
Mr. J. J. D. Bush, said in part:
Ladies and gentlemen: Looking back on the records of work of this Society, there is legitimate cause for some satisfaction during the year under review. Registration is now an accomplished fact, with 4,239 mui-tsai actually registered, and the courts in the Colony are active in enforcing the law and bringing to justice any gross acts of extreme brutality. On the whole these neglected children are placed under more effective protection by the Female Domestic Ordinance.

CHINESE REDS RIOT IN MANILA.

NATIONALISTS MOBBED AND STABBED.

Manila, Oct. 25.

The Chinese Communists last night attacked, mobbed, and stabbed prominent members of the Chinese Nationalist organization in Manila.

Six were wounded and taken to hospital. Two of them were in a critical condition.

The victims include Mr. Gan Bu-hong, the proprietor of the largest Chinese cigarette factory here as well as a school principal, Mr. Ong Chuan-seng. Both are leaders of the Kuomintang.

The first outbreak was believed to be a long war, but later the victims asserted that the motives for the attack were purely political, having followed repeated threats.

Police patrols are heavy and the constabulary may assist in sub-operandi may be found to deal with cases concerning the elusive "adopted daughter" and the anonymous communications reporting cases of ill-treatment of muitsai. More often than not, the enquiries made by the S.C.A. into these cases, however reliable our informants may be, have proved to be fruitless. Greatly needed are the services of absolutely trained men whose instincts must be for the good of the children; without this qualification it is impossible to expect the general public to take an interest in child welfare and to use this Society by reporting cases.

There is no denying that these cases are complex and therefore require skilful handling. Time and again, in so far as regards these cases, the S.C.A. have been led to raise the question: "Why don't these anonymous informants report direct to this Office?" They would if they could. But in general, people laying the information of cruelty in a certain neighbourhood do not wish their names to be disclosed. There is a shrinking fear. Human nature is the same all the world over.
People hesitate to give their names and addresses so as not to run the risk of being called upon to appear in the police court to give evidence.

We look forward with heightened interest to the day when there shall be absolute co-ordination of effort between the S.C.A., the Child Welfare Society and all those who are concerned in the work for the prevention of cruelty to children. The mui tsai constitute a preponderant part of the child welfare problem in the Colony. This Society will not have done its duty until the knowledge is possessed by all that it is not a charity but an agent for justice, seeking the welfare of a certain section of unhappy and down-trodden children.
I conclude with these words from a notable champion of the child in England: "No credit is taken for all this. It is as it should be. The eleven thousand lady collectors and the hundred thousand contributors are moved by a deep love for children in suffering and need. It is due to them, as to the little sufferers in whose interests they join hands, that the application of common sense and practical methods should lead to use, to the best advantage, of every penny given to the Society."

In his report of the events recorded in the past year, the Chinese Secretary, Mr. Wong She-tin, gave some interesting statistics concerning the work of the Society.

During the meeting a concert was given to vary the proceedings.
A musical item was rendered in delightful manner by Messrs.
Peter Cheung, Chan Tak-kwong and Lum On-ling. Chinese music and singing by Messrs. Hung Kimchau, Lam Wan-lok, Chan Shiu, Lam Liu-ye, and Lee Die-sang was warmly applauded. Others who contributed to make the concert a success were Messrs. Tso Ling-wai, Ng Chi-chiu, Lee Kwok-lung and Lum Tin-tsai. The concert concluded with another Chinese musical item by Messrs.
Chu Hau-cheung, Pau Shin-chuen, and Chu Tak-cheung. Light refreshments were served.

BULGARIAN ROYAL WEDDING.

KING BORIS MARRIED TO ITALIAN PRINCESS.

Assisi, Oct. 25.

The thoughts of the whole of Bulgaria and Italy are centred on this normally quiet Perugian town which to-day is ablaze with bunting and crowded on the occasion of the wedding of King Boris and Princess Giovanna of Italy. The ceremony in the church of St.

Francis was attended by a distinguished gathering, including the Italian King Emmanuel and Princesses, the ex-King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, and Signor Mussolini.

Princess Giovanna's car was pelted with roses from the windows of the villagers' flower-bedecked houses as she proceeded to the church. On crossing the threshold eight heralds in the traditional medieval costume of the town blew a fanfare on silver trumpets.

The service was conducted, by the parish priest instead of the Cardinal, in accordance with the bride's desire. At the elevation of the Host, the heralds standing along the altar steps, blew their trumpets instead of the usual ringing of the bell.

After the ceremony the couple walked to the tomb of St. Francis of Assisi to pray. Amid the acclamations of the rural populace three hundred guests sat down to a lunch in a private villa. The bride on entering immediately removed her wedding veil and put on the crown of Queen of Bulgaria. The most charming moment of the lunch was when three little children offered King Boris's bride three bowls filled with wine, oil and bread, symbolical of the agricultural life of Assisi.

Subsequently the royal pair embarked at Ancona for Bulgaria.—

LOCAL SHIPYARDS ABLAZE.

DAMAGE ESTIMATED AT $100,000.

Three small Chinese shipyards in Cheungshawan, New Territories, along the Laichikok Road, were the scene of a destructive fire, which raged for three hours early yesterday morning. Serious damage, to the extent of about $100,000, was caused.

The fire, which is said to have originated from a leakage of oil from a motor engine in one of the yards, soon assumed big proportions and swept over an area of over a hundred square yards. When the brigades' three appliances, one from Mongkok and two from Kowloon, arrived on the scene, the three shipyards were burning fiercely, the flames shooting to a great height. For over an hour the blaze defied the concerted efforts of the brigades, which subsequently had to summon the assistance of the No. 1 fire boat. An emergency water pump in one of the yards was soon involved in the flames before it could be utilised by the firemen.

The yards destroyed belonged to Messrs. Kwong Fook Cheung, Kwong Cheung Hing and Wing On Sing. They were stacked chiefly with timber and other materials necessary for shipbuilding, and all being of a highly inflammable nature were soon devoured by the flames. A large quantity of electric cable in the first-named yard was completely destroyed. This yard has been insured with the Chung On Insurance Company to the extent of $30,000. The other two yards were not insured.

Three vessels, the ex-Government launch Stanley, the Man Sang, a launch belonging to the Yumati Ferry Co., and a new vessel under construction were lying alongside a slipway when the fire started. The flames gained a hold on the Stanley, but it was extinguished before any serious damage could be done.

The firemen energetically coped with the situation, and removed a large amount of the timber in the yards. While so engaged, a Chinese fireman was hurt by a falling log, while directing a hose into one of the yards. He sustained injuries to his back, and collapsed, being quickly removed to hospital.

But for the efforts of the firemen, it is quite probable that the three vessels named would all have been destroyed. The men, by removing timber close to these vessels, prevented the fire from gaining ground in that direction.

The blaze was brought under control a little past six o'clock in the morning, after having raged for three hours. The yards were

MY WIFE'S SECRETARY.

[By Her Husband.]

When my wife told me that she was going to advertise for a secretary, I had not the slightest idea that she meant anything so outrageous as a man!

Well! She has one—the kind that one meets in advertisements as:—"Of good appearance, Pub. School, Univer. Preferred, French Spanish essential."

He is good-looking in a way, though rather too effeminate for my taste with his wavy fair hair, delicate skin, and perfectly manicured hands. I can never understand how anybody like that can play rugger, but he does. He is one of two famous brothers who play for their historic school.

His manners are perfect, rather too assiduous perhaps, and he always seems to be afraid of me. When I remark on this to my wife she says: "No wonder! When you glare at him so!" He is always in front of me to open doors—being sharper in his movements than myself, and he never seems clumsy or knocks things over, as I do, if I attempt to hurry. It is rather bad taste, on his part, I consider, when an elderly man is about, and exceedingly annoying, as anyone can see that my wife admires this trait in him, which, after all, is only natural youthful agility that anybody expects in a boy of his age.

His dress is rather too smart for a young man in his position. He has become much smarter too since he has been in my wife's office.

I am always hearing about him at meals—his absolute discretion, honour and devotion to duty. It is apt to become monotonous to put it quite mildly.

I offered to take my wife to the exhibition of Italian pictures, but she had already been one lunch-time, and she had taken the secretary. He is very keen on pictures, apparently, and my wife is very well-informed on the subject.

I try to regard the whole thing as dispassionately as possible, but I don't think that this man secretary business is quite the thing.

Of course, I have had a woman-secretary all my business life, and make no secret of what an absolute treasure she is, but that is naturally very different somehow.

Something New.

Many fashionable women are wearing little paillette jackets. This one is of gold with a capelet falling from the shoulders.

YOUR CHILDREN.

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

Everyone is saying that children are not children any more. That they are adult in mind and are not interested in juvenile things.

I think this bears a little investigation. Also I think that if the fact is proven, it should not necessarily be condemned. If children are really more adult in thinking than of yore, is there any reason to jump to the conclusion that it is a bad thing?

Now, are children more adult than they used to be?

In the old days a boy stayed at home, went on errands, to school, to church.

His world was bounded usually by the corner grocery, the school house, the bridge across the cut, and the church three blocks away.

In that small space he lived and had his being. What went on outside he learned from books when he was old enough to read, or on occasional long trips on the cars.

His relatives in the next county seldom saw him. Their cows, pigs and chickens, vegetable garden, flowers, corn fields and threshing machine were an x quantity to him. A little visit out there in the summer was a thrill and a peep at heaven. Birds' nests and bait for fishing were something so new and so different that he talked of them for a year afterward.

It's a Different World.

Now his father or his friend's father has a car. The country is no longer Utopia but a place he knows as well as his own block. His uncle's farm doesn't thrill him. It is no particular treat. He has even lost his interest in picnics. So we say he is blasé, adult, he has lost his interest in childish things.

What is true of the country experience is true of many other things.

The world has opened up for children in every direction. They see much and hear much that children were formerly denied. The edge is off—they can't and don't keep up enthusiasm in the simple things we expect them to do. We frown and say they are too adult. Why, when we were children we would have—the old sigh. We had so little; we were all bound round with a woollen string. We stayed children because we had to stay children, until slowly, by gradual accumulation, we became adult by experience.

People say it's the movies. Well, perhaps it is, but not in the way they think, most likely. I think the influence of movies is more indirect than that. What they do is to offer a form of excitement that flattens the other things we have decided that children should be interested in.

The whole truth is that youngsters to-day are living on another planet. They are completely surrounded by a bewildering assortment of influences that have a tendency to reduce their interest in childish things. And this goes so far as to change their taste in books and reading. How are we going to get them back into the sweet old way of being enthusiastic over a new ball or a picnic lunch? We can't.

"THE THIN RED LINE."

BALL AT PENINSULA HOTEL TO-MORROW.

The W. Os, S/Sgts., and Sergeants of the 2nd. Bn. The Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders are holding their annual Ball to-morrow, at the Peninsula Hotel.

This annual event usually takes place on the anniversary of the battle of Balacava, which was fought on the 25th Oct., 1854. This year, however, as the anniversary fell on a Saturday, the ball could not be held on the actual date.

The stand made by the 93rd Highlanders at Balacava has been immortalized by Robert Gibb's well-known painting "The Thin Red Line."

Alone amongst Infantry Regiments the 93rd bear the battle honour "Balacava" on the Re-

ARABS AND JEWS.

PREMIER EXPLAINS POLICY IN PALESTINE.

London, Oct. 25. Mr. MacDonald replying to General Smuts, says that the Government's Palestine policy cannot fairly be described as a retreat from the Balfour Declaration, but that it re-affirms the principle that Jewish emigration should not exceed the economic capacity of the country to absorb the new entrants.

Mr. MacDonald points out that the Balfour Declaration explicitly provided that nothing should be done to prejudice the civil and religious rights of the existing non-Jewish communities in Palestine. —Reuter.

THE MIS-USE OF INVENTIONS.

Practically everybody agrees that this is an age of miracles. Unfortunately, however, the miracles sometimes seem to get a little bit perverted. Recently for example, a radio chain threw a programme through the air to cities all over America. Eager listeners tuned in, becoming participants in this most amazing of modern miracles—and were rewarded by hearing some quite invisible individual perform a tap-dance, far off in the confines of a New York studio. Now tap-dancing, of course, is very fine in its way; but there is something rather incongruous about the thought of thousands of radio listeners, scattered from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans, sitting in their arm chairs, drawing upon one of the greatest inventions of the age, and listening to the meaningless click-clack of a pair of shoes rapping on a wooden floor. It suggests, in fact, that many marvellous inventions are doing no good for the simple reason that they are misused.

To have the faith that could move mountains would be magnificent; but it would be something less than magnificent if the possessor used this great force, let us say, merely to raise bunkers for a miniature golf course. In the same way, the invention of the radio hardly seems worth while if its net result is to enable the frantic thumpings of a tap-dancer to go on the air from coast to coast. Very likely this is worrying too much about nothing. Yet the whole business is a symptom, and symptoms are often important. With the discoveries and inventions of science during the last few decades, mankind could almost completely remake the world, reform human society and eliminate a tremendous proportion of the misery and discomfort that has been humanity's lot since time began. Instead of making the most of these things, however, we are complacently perverting them to uses that are either dangerous or downright silly. The lore of the chemist is turned into an instrument by which mankind is very apt to exterminate itself in the next big war that comes along. The conquest of the air is diverted into the same channel, and gives a side-line of useless "stunts" to keep people amused between times. The printing press reaches its apotheosis in tabloid newspapers, cheap magazines and idiotic bestseller fiction. The moving picture camera permits us to watch overpaid actresses in rapid stories suited to the minds of 12-year-olds. And so it goes. Our inventions have left us too far behind.

It is interesting to note in this connexion that fifty of America's leading aeroplane makers, meeting at Washington, recently passed a resolution aiming to outlaw the stunting of aeroplanes except for necessary test work. This is a step in the right direction. In routine army and navy work stunting is essential. It is also essential, in certain test flights. It is entirely out of place, however, at public exhibitions. Lives of innocent bystanders can too easily be endangered. Furthermore, it is bad business—which, probably, explains why aeroplane manufacturers are protesting. It does little good, to tell the public that flying is safe when a squadron of stunters can go out and, by doing a dizzy series of flip-flops, suggest to the average man that aviation is after all a game for daredevils.

Government and Economics.

With the tariff issue looming large on the British political horizon, the recommendation of a Lancashire newspaper that the question of imposing a tariff on certain classes of goods should be determined by economists rather than politicians can hardly be regarded as startling. Yet the implications reach farther than one might suppose at first glance. The preponderance of problems with which modern governments have to deal are economic, and it becomes little less than a proposal that the guidance of national and international affairs should be handed over to the leaders of economic science. As pointed out by another journal, economics is a study of practical utility which is held in high esteem, and if any proposed measure can be shown by economic theory to promise financial profit, it already has gone a long way towards winning public approval. Yet, if it is seriously suggested that government be placed upon a strictly economic basis, it becomes of considerable importance to ask whether economics is sufficiently developed and comprehensive to provide the dominating factor in matters of high public importance. And the answer, of course, must be "No." Modern economics, though invaluable when its findings are checked and weighed against those suggested by other lines of thought, is too narrow a study to form the sole guide, even to the imposition of a tariff. It takes no account of some of the essential features of human nature, and it ignores completely the problem of justice. It is in this latter respect that its primary defect is to be found. The conception of justice excluded and any nation which conducts its affairs on a purely economic theory would further the cause neither of national nor international harmony. Until some widening of views is accomplished, therefore, the Government must determine its actions by considerations higher than those of economics.

CORRESPONDENCE.

"English."

[To The Editor of Hongkong Telegraph.]

Sir,—I am not a member of The English Society, but I would like to enter a small protest against the use of American words in news sheets. Why "jail" and "held" when "gaol" and "arrested" or "detained" are perfectly good English?

I see protests in Home papers about the introduction of American phrases and expressions in the "Talkies." (I suppose I ought not to use this last word, but inconsistency is refreshing). Amongst other expressions objected to is "O.K." This, however, though possibly American in origin, has been thoroughly absorbed into the English language, probably owing to the Great War, as it is, or was, the recognised signal for Army signallers and telephonists that a message had been received or correctly checked.—Yours etc., MILES OLIM.

The Nanking Finance Minister, Mr. T. V. Soong, who left for Canton to confer with the Canton leaders during the week-end, returned to Hongkong late last evening by special train. He is understood to be returning to-morrow morning, leaving on the President Lincoln.

The following passengers will arrive in Hongkong on the President Pierce, due November 7th:—Mr. Chas. H. Benson, Manager of the American Express Co., Hongkong, and Mrs. Benson; Mr. Donald D. McKay, who is coming to Hongkong to join the staff of the Robert Dollar Company.

Two more opium carriers from Canton were charged before Mr. Butters, at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning, by Revenue Officer Tullon. In the first case, a man was fined $1,440, or six months' imprisonment, for possession of 43 tacks of raw opium, whilst in the other a woman, charged in respect of 32 tacks of raw opium, was fined $960, or five months' imprisonment.

Charged at Kowloon this morning with the theft of some clothing from a passenger on board the vessel on which he travelled to Hongkong, and also with having returned from banishment before the expiration of his term, a Chinese was sentenced to two months' and six months' hard labour respectively, with 20 strokes. He was banished in 1924 for a period of ten years.

The Children's Day organised by the Filipino Club turned out a great success. It was held yesterday at the Club grounds, King's Park, an excellent programme of sport and athletic events being provided. The programme opened at 2.30 p.m. At the end, Mrs. V. N. Atienza distributed the prizes to the several winners and tea was served to the accompaniment of the Orient String Band.

The first tea dance arranged by the Ladies' Committee will be held in the Club Rooms of the Cheero (Naval and Military Y.M.C.A.) at the City Hall, from 5 to 7 to-morrow evening (Tuesday). These gatherings proved most popular last winter, and a good attendance is expected. Service men are also reminded of the dance to be held in the City Hall on Monday, 3rd November, for which tickets can now be obtained.

SIR EDWARD PARRY on

SHORT CUTS TO JUSTICE.

A HUNDRED years ago, when young Dr. Lydgate went to Middlemarch, he trod on Mr. Chichely's corn—he was County Coroner, you remember—by saying that a lawyer was no better than an old woman at a postmortem examination. To which Chichely replied, not irrelevantly, that coroners did not conduct postmortems but listened to evidence.

Lydgate began jeering at the lawyer's homage to evidence, and the Coroner burst out: "Hang your reforms! There's no greater humbug in the world!"

I would not go all the way with Mr. Chichely, but I am glad that old father antick the law still maintains his right to admonish the members of the jury that they shall "true verdict give according to the evidence."

In the trial of a cause, all that a jury needs is evidence and divine aid in interpreting it. Nor, as our common law runs, can they obtain anything else. The tipstaff is sworn when they retire to keep them without meat, drink or fire.

By a decision of Maube J., this does not forbid a juror having a glass of water since, as that learned Judge wisely said: "Water is not meat, and water is not fire, and I should certainly hold that water is not drink."

There is much talk to-day about the difficulties of the police in coping with criminals, because they have to collect evidence according to law. It is thought they might collect more murderers by American and French methods. But those who argue thus forget the lesson of the Oscar Slater case, where unhappily evidence was collected, "not according to law." Evidence is very susceptible to auto-suggestion; and auto-attorney suggestion has blighted many a good cause.

The doctors and scientists are still like Lydgate, and think they could manage the lawyers' business better than they do. They complain that lawyers run their show on hidebound antique principles. Many books are written on the science of criminology and the psychology of crime. They are entertaining but not convincing.

Vidocq, the French detective—a contemporary of Dr. Lydgate—used to boast that he had an unerring instinct in finding criminals.

"I do not," he said, "need to see the whole of a criminal's face to recognise him as such, it is enough for me to catch his eye."

Lavater claimed to be an expert criminal physiognomist, but he once mistook the portrait of an executed assassin for that of the philosopher Herder.

The fact is that criminal physiognomy was in practical use in the Crown Courts of the Middle Ages who considered it an exact science. When two persons were suspected of the same crime the uglier one was executed. To bring it up to date, we should have a row of the photographs of suspects in a picture paper and a referendum to decide which was the ugliest.

There is a school of thought to-day that would turn our police cells into laboratories. Each remand-prisoner would be tested by a super-psychological constable, armed with plethysmographs and other noisome instruments, with whose aid he would study the reactions of the muscles and secretory glands of the remanded prisoner.

But if a hardened criminal refused under these tests to register "fear," or "instinct of flight," or other incriminating emotions, then his blood must be tested and you may be sure, writes an enthusiast, that "the adrenalin and sugar will tell the truth."

These scientific short cuts to discover the truth, the whole truth nothing but the truth, are merely survivals of the old methods of magic, whereby criminals were discovered by walking them over hot ploughshares or bringing them to touch the murdered corpse and then watching their reactions.

Witches were discovered in a similar way, by inspecting their bodies for marks. The professors of these sciences held honoured and lucrative positions in the official executive for the administration of justice.

In an age like the present, where necromancy and fortune telling are fashionable pursuits, it may be that we shall revert to the methods of our ancestors and that a Judge of the future will be a spell-binder in an evil generation seeking after a sign which is not evidence.

But even lawyers—especially when they reach the bench—are apt to think that they can arrive at a true judgment without listening to the evidence; and even show a disposition on occasion not to suffer advocacy gladly. I can remember many cases which were not decided according to the evidence.

Lord Reading—then Mr. Rufus Isaacs—had a story of an early brief in which he appeared for a fruit merchant suing a costermonger, who had bought a consignment of figs which he now alleged were unfit for human food.

Worried by Mr. Isaacs' cross-examination the costermonger shouted at him: "Some of these 'ere figs is in Court; if you eat three of them an' ain't sick in five minutes I'll lose me bloomin' case!"

"Why not, Mr. Isaacs?" said the Judge, persuasively, looking at the clock the while.

Mr. Isaacs shook his head and suggested that in a trial by ordeal the lay client took the star turn.

ARSON HEARING

EVIDENCE.

STORY OF SUPPER.

Hearing of charges of conspiring and setting fire to their premises at No. 77 Wing Lok Street, with the alleged intention of defrauding the Insurance Company, was resumed before Mr. Lindell at the Central Police Court this morning against Li Sui-ping, proprietor of the Tin Sang Tong native drug store, his son and two foks.

Originally there was another foki brought before the Court, but the case against this man was withdrawn, while he was put into the witness-box to give testimony. Continuing his depositions this morning, this witness said they had a supper on the evening of the 18th instant, consisting of pork stewed with vegetables, fish and roast pork. There was to have been a second fish course, but the proprietor said it was too late to prepare it, so roast pork, sent for from a shop, was substituted.

At this supper there were present four other men in addition to the proprietor and the witness. The third defendant was not with them but was later sent for from the 'Po Tai' Shipping Company. The meal they had that night was later than usual.

Shown a heap of clothing found at the 'Po Tai' witness identified a pair of trousers, a quilt and a blanket as being the property of the proprietor. He said these articles used to be at the Tin Sang Tong before the shipping Company premises were rented.

Mr. Leo D'Almeida, S.R., appearing for the proprietor and his son, reserved his cross-examination of the witness.

The case was again adjourned until Monday, when Mr. Somerset Fitzroy stated, he would be settling out the case for the Crown.

The defendant said that some coolies had retrieved the coal from the sea, and had dumped it in her sampan. Detective Sergeant Humphreys said he did not think the defendant was the offender, but she was the receiver.

FAIR WEATHER.

The Royal Observatory reports that the anticyclone is central to the north-east of Peking. The depression has deepened and passed to the east of Hokkaido. The local forecast is:—East winds, moderate; fair.

At the Kowloon Magistrate's Court this morning, before Mr. Butters, a Chinese was charged with having committed an indecent assault on a girl, at 327, Shanghai Street. The defendant alleged that, in the dark, when he was getting down from his bunk, which was above the complainant's bunk, he accidentally touched her. Mr. Butters discharged the defendant.

On Saturday night the dancing season was ushered in at the Repulse Bay Hotel by a Carnival which was attended by some 350 dancers, all of whom spent a most enjoyable evening. Parties of guests were entertained by Mr. & Mrs. Edward Stone, Major Todd, Mr. T. B. Wilson, Mr. Vander Steen, Mr. Dubus, Mr. A. F. Simmie, Mrs. R. Well, Mr. & Mrs. Worley, Mr. McCready, Major Bingham, Mr. G. K. Hall Brutton and Mr. E. G. Collins, whose party came in fancy dress, adding gay colour to the prettily decorated room.

The foundation stone of the Zoroastrian Building at Leighton Hill Road was laid on Friday by Mrs. D. K. Kharas, wife of the President of the Parsee Charity Fund Association, in the presence of a large gathering. Mr. J. Davar, a Parsee gentleman, and Mr. Gustav Stetavajani, a German, who are together touring the world on push bicycles, were among those present. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the Secretary (Mr. F. K. Modi) thanked Mrs. Kharas and presented her with a silver trowel and a basket of flowers in remembrance of the occasion.

K.B.S. FORMER PUPILS' ASSOCIATION.OPENING OF NEW CLUB HOUSE AT KING'S PARK.

The new club house of the Kowloon British School Former Pupils' Association at King's Park was formally opened on Saturday by Mrs. G. Nightingale, the wife of the Headmaster of the Central British School, before a large gathering, which included Mr. G. F. Nightingale, the Hon. Mr. A. E. Wood (Director of Education), Miss E. Woolley and Mr. E. Moses, the joint secretaries of the Club.

In the course of the afternoon, an exhibition doubles tennis match—J. A. E. Cassamboy and C. A. L. Rumjahn against S. A. and H. D. Rumjahn (the Colony's Champions)—was played, the former pair winning by 6-4, 6-8, 6-4. A mixed hockey match was also a feature of the programme.

Mr. Nightingale, addressing the gathering, said:

The present occasion forms a very important epoch in the history of the Association of Old Pupils. The first regular meeting of the Association was held on 2nd May, 1923, when the first Committee was appointed, consisting of Mr. G. Franklin Nightingale, Chairman, Mr. W. Robson, Treasurer, Mr. G. Jack, Secretary, Miss B. George, Miss S. Wall, Mr. G. Duncan, Mr. V. Ransay, Mr. C. Stewart.

The first President and Vice-President were Mr. E. Ralphs and Mr. B. Wylie respectively, to whom the Association is deeply indebted for valuable advice and encouragement.

The question of the erection of a pavilion was first mooted at a meeting held on Monday, February 10, 1927 when Mr. W. G. Lawson was Secretary. Ways and means of obtaining the requisite funds were discussed at the next committee meeting in March and at a subsequent meeting held in the Board Room of the South China Morning Post, when a very comprehensive report of the Association and its objects was presented by Mr. Lawson.

An Urgent Need.

The report stated: "The urgent need for these (the construction of a pavilion and the erection of fencing) cannot be too greatly stressed. At present the Club is without accommodation of any description and without such is unable to foster the objects for which it was formed. With such a centre (Clubhouse) it would be easier to secure and retain the interest and support of past pupils and to further the many activities of the Association. It is true that the Kowloon British School Former Pupils' Association is far more ambitious than many other similar Associations, for its endeavour is to promote Sport, etc., among its members. It is felt that the provision of a Clubhouse would give a stimulus, would centralise the activities, social and sporting, of the Association, and render easier the task of catering for the varying tastes of its members."

The next move was made at the end of 1928, when Mr. King was appointed Secretary. He at once resolved to realise the dream of his predecessors and erect a clubhouse. He has succeeded and may look back with pride on the work he has done in the interests of the Association.

The Club is deeply indebted to all members of the Committee and to Mr. John Pearne, who was responsible for the plans, for I can say, without fear of contradiction, that without their enthusiasm and their determination to overcome all obstacles, we should not be gathered together to-day at this formal opening of the Club pavilion.

It is the duty of all Past pupils and associate members to rally to the support of the Committee, who have but one object in view, the prosperity of the Association. Our grateful thanks are due to all those who, by such a generous response to our appeal for subscriptions, have made possible the erection of this clubhouse, and to Mr. Dyer for the decorations.

At the conclusion of the function, the Hon. Mr. A. E. Wood, congratulated the Association on having been successful in getting such a fine club house. He also congratulated the organisers, whose untiring efforts were responsible for the attainment of their object.

REBELS NOT YET
SUBDUED.ATTEMPT TO GATHER
NEW ARMIES.

Peking, Oct. 25.

Feng Yu-hsiang left Taiyuanfu on October 21 for south Shansi. It is believed at Taiyuanfu that he intends to collect armies and then march to Sianfu.

It is also believed that Feng Yu-hsiang, Yen Hsi-shan and Wang Ching-wei are still working together and have decided to attempt to hold Shansi, Shensi, and Kansu against all comers.

Wang Ching-wei is at present living at an hotel in Taiyuanfu, and contemplates setting up his home there.

The discipline among the returned Shansi soldiers is bad. Recently 30 tried to force their way into a German's house, and were got rid of with difficulties. They said that they wanted accommodation. The soldiers are protesting against living in barracks outside the city, and desire billets in houses in the city.—Reuter.

Nanking, Oct. 25.

The Central News Agency learns that Chiang Kai-shek and Chang Hsueh-liang will meet shortly to discuss outstanding political questions, after which they will issue a joint circular telegram outlining their programme. The venue of the meeting is most likely to be Tsing-tao.—Reuter.

LEAGUE CRICKET.

TWO GAMES PLAYED IN SECOND DIVISION.

In both matches in the Second Division of the Cricket League played on Saturday the bowlers had the better of matters, with the scoring rather low. R. Sourbutts, of the Craigengower seconds, returned the best analysis with nine wickets for 25 runs against the R.A.S.C., who were beaten by 71 runs.

The Indian R.C. were fortunate to take three points against the Club de Recreo, who just failed by fourteen runs to overtake their opponents' total. P. M. el Arculli, the captain of the Sookunpoo eleven, was again in form with the ball and for the second week in succession took six wickets for 17 runs.

Win for Indians.

Once again F. M. el Arculli, the captain of the Indian R.C. second eleven, was responsible for the team's success in their League fixture on Saturday when they played the Club de Recreo at Sookunpoo. The Indians had first knock but were dismissed for 109 runs. This total, however, proved beyond the Portuguese players, whose last wicket fell with 95 runs on the board, Arculli taking six wickets for 17 runs.

R.A.S.C. v. Craigengower.

The brilliant bowling of R. Sourbutts and the steady batting of N. B. Kitchell were the outstanding features of the match between the R.A.S.C. and the Craigengower C.C. at Sookunpoo, the visitors winning by 71 runs. With the exception of Kitchell, who carried his bat for 51, the other batsmen failed to make much of a stand and the innings closed for 111 runs. The military batsmen fared even worse and at one time had six wickets down for just on twenty runs. Their last wicket fell with 40 on the board. Sourbutts had the excellent analysis of nine wickets for 25 runs.

Friendly Match.

Characterised by some heavy scoring, the match between the Army and the Hongkong C.C. resulted in a tie of 173 runs each. Hongkong scored their runs with the loss of five wickets after taking first knock. E. R. Duckitt played a brilliant innings and was undefeated with 75 to his credit when this closure was applied. J. L. Isley contributed 40 while O. E. C. Marton had collected 37 not out. The Army had reached their opponents' total with five wickets down when the match was stopped. Lieut. Dewar Durie was again the mainstay of his side and scored 68. Lieut. Haslewood with 32 not out was the next highest scorer.

Civil Service v. Indians.

Following up their League victory against the University last week, the Indian R.C. gave another convincing display when they engaged the Civil Service C.C. at Happy Valley in a friendly match, beating their hosts by 89 runs, after declaring their innings closed at 195 runs for the loss of five wickets. The batting was consistent with S. A. Ismail (47) and P. D. Pereira (40 not out) the top scorers. The Civil Service replied with 106, F. J. de Rome being top scorer with 36 runs. A. R. Minu took five wickets for 22 runs.

Navy v. University.

The Royal Navy had quite a weak team out against the University at King's Park and lost by nine wickets. Batting first, the naval men were unable to play the bowling of either A. Baker, who took five wickets for 16, or C. W. Lam, who captured four. The innings closed for 44, Merwood being the only player to make any runs, he being undefeated with 23 to his credit. The visitors knocked off the runs with nine wickets in hand, the innings eventually realising 137. Dudley took five wickets for 33 runs.

University v. Hongkong C.C.

These two second strings met at Pokfulam, the visitors winning by five wickets. In the total of 140 runs made by the University, R. E. G. Leong was responsible for 61 while extras yielded 22. J. L. Bonnar dismissed six batsmen for 52 runs. For the Club players R. S. W. Paterson had made 61 not out and W. W. Mackenzie 32 not out when play ceased.

Police v. Diocesan School.

The Police entertained a team from the Diocesan Boys' School and played a draw. With 190 runs on the board for six wickets the hosts declared their innings closed. C. F. Alexander and T. E. Hunter each made 49 and W. la Bart Sparrow scored 32 not out. When play closed the School boys had reached 127 for seven wickets. F. R. Zimmern was top scorer with 51.

Kowloon C.C. Match.

A match between teams captained by J. C. Lyl and E. C. Fincher was played on the Kowloon C.C. ground, the latter's eleven winning by seven wickets. Lyl's side topped 110 runs, F. J. Zimmern scoring 48 while Fincher's team put on 153 runs for five wickets. F. E. Skinner made a bright knock for his 70. E. C. Fincher retired after he had made 32.

Volunteers Beaten.

Playing on the Navy ground at King's Park yesterday, the Craigengower Cricket Club defeated the Volunteers on the first innings by 125 runs, in a friendly fixture. The club bowlers were on the top of their form, especially R. Lee, who captured five wickets for 20 runs in the Volunteers' first innings. U. M. Omar also did well, taking three wickets for 24 runs. Against this, the Volunteers were only able to compile 70 runs, A. C. Beck being top scorer with 30. Planner was the only batsman to enter double figures. Craigengower, thanks to consistent batting, were able to top the double century by one run. Zimmern played soundly for 46, and with A. T. Lee was associated in a profitable partnership. Scores:

SHORT CUTS TO

"What will happen?" whispered the terrified fruit merchant, "if I don't eat the figs?" Mr. Isaacs shook his head gloomily.

"Well I had rather lose my case than eat those figs," blurted out the merchant.

"Judgment for defendant," murmured the Judge, smiling his approval at the plaintiff, as he rose and disappeared behind the bench. It was a summer day, and Oxford were playing Cambridge at Lord's. That is, perhaps, an extenuating circumstance for a judge who seems to have reverted to trial by ordeal in order to save the time of the Court.

But after all there is much to be said for our old-fashioned way of giving verdicts "according to the evidence."

SOUTH CHINA ON TOP.

[By "Wanderer"]

The Argylls' run of success came to an end on Saturday when they surrendered two goals to the Club without reply. The match provided a good game. The Highlanders were rhythmic and clever, but they carried it too far, probably going on the field with an excess of confidence.

South China repeated their win over Somersets and are firmly established at the head of the table for the time being. Kowloon and Recreio, the only other unbeaten teams, drew at King's Park, while St. Joseph's beat the Police 2-1.

SOMERSETS AGAIN FAIL.
Questionable Tactics in Match at Sookunpoo.

There seems to be something radically wrong with the Somersets. Had they been defeated by a much heavier margin than two goals, to one they could have had no quarrel, and they owe it largely to Verrier that South China did not get through more often. Before the interval they were not getting the ball at all. They seemed cumbersome and slow beside their opponents, who were always threatening. Pau Kaping did not handle the ball for twenty minutes. In the second half, they pulled themselves together to some extent. The defence secured a surer grip on the keen and thrifty South China attack and in consequence Troth and his colleagues were seen to better advantage. At one stage it seemed probable that they would level up. Then they threw it all away by unnecessarily rough tactics consisting primarily of taking the man instead of the ball.

There was not one redeeming feature about the last twenty minutes of the game. The bad feeling carried over from the match at Caroline Hill at the beginning of the month appeared to have been held in check until then, although Wong Mei-shun had been throwing his weight about as usual. The Somersets were the worst offenders, and four of them were cautioned before the final whistle blew. Incidentally, Wong Mei-shun was ordered off for deliberately kicking at an opponent.

Lau Mau headed South China's first goal from a corner ten minutes from the start. Fung King-cheong added from a penalty against Earley for holding Lau Mau when that player was safe for a goal. In fact the ball flashed into the net just as the whistle blew. The Somersets obtained their point just before the end, Butcher being the scorer.

As far as football went, South China had the game in their pocket within five minutes of the opening. There was a vast difference in the methods of the teams. South China always made ground when in possession, no player held on to the ball a moment longer than was absolutely necessary, and passes were accurate. Their players ran into position to receive the ball, an elementary rule in soccer tactics, but one which the Somersets appeared on the day's play to have completely forgotten.

Leung Wing-chiu, Wong Mei-shun and Leung Yin-chan are by no means brilliant half-backs, but they were good enough to completely suppress the Somersets front line. Butcher has seldom given a more inept display. Baker alone took the eye and he was too often ploughing a lone furrow. Rayson's centring appears to be getting worse instead of better. Troth was an improvement on Denmark but he failed to shake off Wong's attentions. It came as a surprise when they secured a goal.

Knapp came back into the Somersets team to prove the only consistently good player in the defence. West started badly but improved rapidly; the others were never steady. Verrier played splendidly.

CLUB DO THE TRICK.

Argylls Come a Cropper for First Time.

The Argylls are a temperamental team. The more formidable the opposition the better they play. The same applies, of course, in the opposite direction. That was my meaning on Friday when I hinted the possibility of their defeat in the game with the Club. The Club are less easy to place. They remind me of the nursery couplet about the little girl who "when she was good, etc., etc."

They had done nothing of particular note before beating the Argylls on Saturday, but this win should do much to give the team new confidence for the future.

It might be stretching a point to say they deserved their success. Yet what conclusion is to be reached on these facts: the Club defence was seriously harassed for long periods and had nearly twice as much to do as the Argyll defenders, but kept their goal intact. The Club attack was not nearly so well supported as the Argyll front line, but they scored twice.

The Argyll forwards appeared to be a virile and accomplished line, and Wylie and Campbell several times were within an ace of the goal which was needed to spur them. Had it come, the result would probably have been vastly different, but Rodger was in capital form, had a certain amount of luck with him and Bishop distinguished himself in many tussles with the lively inside trio.

Wallington and Goldman obtained the Club goals, excellent efforts both. It was curious to see how disturbing the loss of the first goal of the season was upon the Argyll defence. The Club's raids were marked by dashing methods rather than cleverness, but the backs were more shaky under pressure of this kind than they have been against pattern-weaving. Yeoman emerged with credit from his tussles with the Club right, but Gordon was off colour. With a loophole here to look after, perhaps Melville, the newcomer at right back, is to be excused the absence of complete efficiency.

Stewart retained his place at centre-half for the Club, and did very well. Segalen seems more at home on the right, than in the centre, while McBride only needs a hard game to show his mettle.

The Argyll attack was in a way disappointing. They had enough opportunities to get goals. The weakness appears to be on the wings where neither Christie nor Hughes is impressive, being too prone to put the ball behind, destroying the value of other good work.

KOWLOON DRAW.

Again Robbed of Win in Closing Minutes.

Victory again evaded Kowloon. With two minutes to go against the Club de Recreio at King's Park they were leading, 1-0. A final rally by the Recreio, a shot by Rocha punched out, the ball snapped up by A. V. Gosano and flashed into the net from 20 yards, and the points were shared.

Kowloon proved themselves a much cleverer side than the Recreio and they should have made the game safe long before Gosano's smart goal came along. As it was they failed to get the ball into the net by a premeditated attack. Gillott scored from a penalty, awarded for a bad foul on Hedley, who seemed a probable scorer when he was tackled unfairly by Xavier. The forwards had many splendid opportunities, but the shooting was not good, and Xavier and Silva-Netto, well supported by Gosano, did the rest.

There was plenty of good football, and much excitement. The Recreio, forwards appeared more dangerous than the Kowloon line when they did break away, but Gilchrist, Dowman and Bliss offered a barrier which they had the greatest difficulty in overcoming.

The new Kowloon formation was sufficiently promising to warrant a further trial, to say no more.

WELSH-SCOTTISH SOCCER.

LEAGUE BLAMED FOR LACK OF INTEREST.

Glasgow, Oct. 26.—The International football match between Scotland and Wales ended in a draw of one goal each. There was an attendance of only 16,000 spectators which emphasises the lack of interest owing to the English League's ruling that Welsh and Scottish Internationals playing for English Clubs can only be released to play for their country if the clubs permit.

Wales forced the play with their team of nine new men and sprang a surprise by sending Bamford through to open the scoring, but Battles equalised before the interval. Scotland were pressing in the second half and the Welsh goal had lucky escapes.

DON MOE LOSES TO LOCAL PLAYER.

BEATEN BY TWO AND ONE BY A. H. FERGUSON.

In a privately arranged match with Mr. A. H. Ferguson, the captain of the Royal Hongkong Golf Club on Saturday, Mr. Don Moe, the most promising young amateur golfer of America, was beaten by two up and one to play on the Fanning Course. Mr. Moe, who arrived on Friday, could not adapt himself to the local conditions and the unfamiliar ground. It is understood that on the return of Mr. Moe, who has gone to Manila, a four-ball match will be played at Fanning. It is expected that His Excellency the Governor (Sir William Peel, K.B.E., C.M.G.), His Excellency the G.O.C. (Major General J. W. Sandilands, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O.) and Commodore R. A. S. Hill will play.

ST. JOSEPH'S WIN.

Even Game with Police at Kowloon.

Fortunes fluctuated so much in this game that an odd goal either way could have caused no genuine grievance. It happened to fall to St. Joseph's, who thus obtained their first win of the season, though the Police were rather disappointed at the refusal of the referee to award them a goal when Cornwall sent in a fine shot which McGrann failed to check properly and which appeared to pass over the line before he recovered and scooped it out. McGrann was right on the spot and doubtless could have made certain of the point, but he walked away thinking that it was already a goal.

At the interval neither team had scored, though McGrann had had two glorious opportunities and Leonard appeared to be right through for St. Joseph's at the other end. Leonard scored nicely some fifteen minutes after the interval, and Shepherd equalised with a long shot which had McGrann completely beaten. A draw seemed certain when Lim was given a clear path between Perkins and Williams and made no mistake about the chance.

St. Joseph's made a good impression. The half-backs are their strong point, Skinner being in particular fine form just now. Hyder and Gomes are steady backs, though the former is rather boisterous in his tackling. The forwards have yet to get together, though there is much individual cleverness.

The Police gave one of their good displays, but they missed too many opportunities. The half-back line, Shepherd in particular, showed up prominently, and there was little wrong with the backs, except some lack of understanding. The forwards seemed better together, but the finishing efforts were wretchedly weak for the most part.

R.A. UNLUCKY.

Not Four Goals Worse Than Athletic.

The Athletic were rather lucky to obtain a four clear goals win over the Royal Artillery, who held their own for the greater part of the game. The Athletic, however, played far the better football, especially in attack, where their deft touches made the efforts of the big R. A. halves look moderate, in spite of the fact that they should have secured some advantage from the fact that the ball was more often than not in the air.

If the R. A. had used the same direct methods in the goal area as they employed in getting there, the margin of the Athletic win would have been less substantial, more nearly reflective of the run of the play, but they dillyed and dallyed. Allen caused most anxiety. He was always on the alert for a chance to break through, but was generally smothered before he became too dangerous.

Fletcher had no chance with any of the goals. In front of him, Gough was a bit shaky, while Frearson did much good work.

Li Yee-shun and Leung Tai-wing scored prior to the interval, and Lam Yuk-ying (penalty) and Li Yee-shun completed the tally. There were some unpleasant incidents in the closing stages, following upon marching orders to Walker.

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY.

Celia Rogers, looking one month of being in and just out of high school, spends a hot and weary July day looking for a job. Her mother, Margaret Rogers, is a widow and employed as a seamstress in a dress shop. They live in a flat, with no other income than the mother's earnings.

Celia is unsuccessful in her search for work and goes home. Mrs. Rogers arrives with a letter which she conceals from her daughter. Celia goes for a drive with Harry Shields, a young newspaper photographer who lives next door.

While they are alone Mrs. Rogers reads her letter. It is signed "John Mitchell," and the writer offers to provide, advantages of education, travel and social position for the girl if Mrs. Rogers will give her up. Margaret declares she will never do this. Meanwhile, Celia is in a daze, and Harry takes her into his arms and kisses her.

CHAPTER III.

Celia lifted stony eyes to Barney's. She was trembling but happy. Barney's arms held her close. His kisses were still warm on her lips.

"Oh—I!" Celia whispered and could not go on.

Shyly she dropped her head to nestle against Barney's shoulder. Her cheek touched his.

"Celia," Barney Shields was saying in a voice that sounded far away, "You're so sweet. Do you know that, honey? Know that I'm crazy about you?"

She would not look up. Celia's mind was whirling. This ecstatic happiness was frightening. But it was wonderful too. Then Celia remembered that letting a young man kiss you was supposed to be wrong. How could anything so pleasant as this be wrong?

"Barney," she said, raising her head, "you—we mustn't!" She drew away from him.

Instantly the youth was contrite. "You're not angry, are you?" he begged. "Why, Celia, you know I didn't—I mean please don't be angry! I couldn't help it, Celia. You're just so sweet I couldn't help it."

Colour was slowly flooding the girl's cheeks. She kept her eyes downcast, being unable to trust herself to look at him. Barney misunderstood. He launched into one of the longest speeches he had ever in all his life made.

"Listen, Celia," he said earnestly, "don't you understand? Oh, I know you're really just a kid and I—well I haven't any business expecting you to care for a dud like me. I guess I should have known better. But I've been crazy about you ever since the first day I saw you and after that when I got to know you—well, I've liked you better all along. Girls aren't much in my line. Guess I never knew any of 'em very well before. Anyhow, you're different from the rest. I didn't mean to tell you all this the way I have. I don't know what made me. I'm—well, I sort of forgot everything else except you being here beside me and the rest of the world such a long way off. Just you and me—and the stars up there—and the wind—I! Celia, I'm not going to be a photographer all my life. I don't know how yet but I'm going to be one of the men who boss things instead of taking orders! Some of these days I'm going to push up out of the ordinary taking crowd. Do you suppose some time, maybe, you could care for me? Celia—could you?"

She wondered if he could hear how loud her heart was beating.

"Barney," the girl said, "you know I care about you."

That did not satisfy him.

"It isn't the way I mean," Barney said quickly. "I mean do you think you could care the way I do? Do you think you could marry me?"

Celia Rogers had never in her whole life thought seriously about marrying. She had entertained dreamy notions, as do all girls, of the sort of home she would like some time for her own, how it would seem to go shopping in a big car with a chauffeur and go to elegant parties with rich and handsome. But she had never really thought about marrying anyone but this, anyone she knew. After all, Celia was not yet 18.

"Why, Barney, she said, 'you know I couldn't marry anyone—not for a long time! I've got to take care of mother. She's worked and done everything for me all my life. Now it's my turn. I like you a lot, Barney. Better than—well, better than almost anybody—"

"Honestly, do you? Say it over again!"

"Honestly I do."

"And you aren't sore because I kissed you?"

Celia shook her head negatively. She admitted it a trifle reluctantly but she was smiling. How could she help but smile with Barney looking at you like that?

He kissed her then on top of her curling head, on her cheek and on the tiny lobe of her right ear, happening as it did to be conveniently located.

"Barney, you're—you're terrible!"

Then they laughed and, having laughed, became sensible, practical young persons again.

"Some day you're going to marry me," Barney Shields declared firmly. "It may be a long time off but you're going to."

Celia looked out over the dark road ahead. She remembered that it must be growing very late. She said it was time for them to turn back.

So Barney started the motor and turned the car about. Celia snuggled close beside him and let Barney close his arm about her until they reached the thickly travelled highway. Dozens of other motor vehicles crowded before and behind them and the girl drew away sedately.

It seemed just a short ride before they were back at the flat again. Barney set the brake and threw open the door of the car. They stepped out and walked slowly to the door.

There were street lamps not a dozen yards away, but they were dim ones. No one else was in sight on the street. Quickly Barney Shields gathered the girl to him and pressed a kiss rather crazily on her forehead.

"Good night!" he said brusquely. Then he turned and ran down the steps.

Celia went slowly up the two flights of stairs. She kept remembering just how Barney's eyes had looked before he kissed her. Just how his voice had sounded when he said those beautiful words. Celia thought they were beautiful. "You're so sweet!"—that was what Barney had said.

She was trying hard to look natural and matter of fact when she reached the third floor and pushed open the door of the apartment.

"Anybody home?" Celia called. She knew of course that there was. She could see her mother in the bedroom kneeling before a big trunk, the light shining over her shoulder.

"In here!" Mrs. Rogers answered. "Did you have a nice ride?"

"Oh, yes! It was lots cooler after we got out a way. There was a grand breeze. What have you been doing all this time?"

Mrs. Rogers said she was just looking through some old things. Celia kept on talking. She hoped her mother had not noticed how late it was. She didn't say any more about the ride or about Barney.

It was lucky her mother had opened that old trunk! Whenever Mrs. Rogers did that she forgot all about time.

Celia slipped out of her dress and moved about the room, finishing preparations for bed. Her mother was packing things back in the trunk now. There was a wooden box on the floor which was familiar.

"Oh—can I look at it?"

"Yes, for a minute. I've got to get things back in here though."

The girl settled herself cross-legged on the bed and opened the wooden case. Once it had been an elegant jewel box and it still held treasures. Celia took out what she thought the prettiest one—a small gold locket of old-fashioned design. Its two heavily engraved sides opened to reveal tiny glass surfaces. Beneath one was a ridiculous picture of Celia herself as a baby. The other side of the locket was empty.

"Why didn't you ever put another picture in here, mother?" She asked.

"Oh, I—I don't know."

Mrs. Rogers' back was turned. Celia, busy with her own thoughts, had not noticed anything unusual about her mother's manner. She had not even noticed that her mother's eyes were red-rimmed.

The gold chain which once had held the locket had disappeared long since. So many other things, once lodged proudly in that jewel case, were gone now. There were beads left, a pair of silver filigree earrings, and Celia's baby ring. There were a pair of yellowed satin buckles, once snow white, which had adorned dainty slippers. Newspaper clippings, and other old things which to the girl seemed rather foolish.

Here, let me take them now," Celia gave the box back. She did not see the packet of yellowed letters which were placed tenderly in the trunk before the lid went down.

Long after the light had gone out in the little third floor bedroom that night Celia lay wide awake thinking about Barney, telling herself over and over how happy she was, wondering if Barney was thinking of her too.

He must be!

Some day in the future they were going to be so happy together. Some day—

At last she fell asleep. It was a heavy sleep from which she woke with a start. Her mother had gone. Celia arose, dressed, gulped a cup of coffee and was out of the house. It was nearly four o'clock that afternoon when Celia Rogers hurried eagerly up the stairs leading to the fitting room of Margo's

CINEMA NOTES.

"JOURNEY'S END" FINELY PRODUCED.

As a stage play "Journey's End" was hailed as a masterpiece, and the film, which was shown for the first time at the Central Theatre on Saturday, can also be so described. Those who were privileged to see the original stage-play at the Prince of Wales Theatre, London, know how truly the adaptor, Joseph Moncrieff, has kept to the original of R. C. Sherriff, and how faithful a reproduction the play is of the drama of the dug-out. The Tiffany-Gainsborough "talkie" is as excellent a copy as one could wish.

The story of "Journey's End" is too well-known to be told, saves that it concerns a brief period in the lives of a certain group of British officers in a dug-out before St. Quentin, the object being to tell of the demoralising effects of war, together with the heroism and unselfishness it brings out. It is intended more as a show of psychology than a tale of incident, but contains a dramatic interest in an atmosphere that was never in a play. It is a play—or film—to be seen and heard before it can be understood, and it has an appeal that makes it rank as one of the greatest literary products to come out of the war of 1914-1918.

Colin Clive heads the cast in the role of "Capt. Stanhope," and his perfect performance is equalled by the others. Ian MacLaren is the lovable "Uncle," willing to go to hell with his young commander; Anthony Bushell as Hibbert, driven by fear to sham sickness; David Manners as the hero-whipping youngster; Billy Bevan as Trotter, mostly concerned because of his interludes with his meals; Charles Gerrard, maker of dark, gloomy soup and onion-flavoured tea; Jack Piccola as the Colonel; Thomas Whiteley as Sergeant-Major; Warner Klinger as the German lad; Robert A'Dair as the careless captain.

In the film, trench and battle scenes are added to illustrate what in the play are only referred to in conversation, and the result is an even heightened effect. The Central Theatre will no doubt draw large houses for the whole run of the film; at least, there is every reason why it should.

"Lilac Time" Against the thunderous background of war-torn France, with flying aces zooming in the air overhead and the backwash of the world's most terrible conflict bringing ruin to the peasantry, a little slip of a girl in simple frocks takes you to great emotional heights, brings a heart-throb here and a tear there, as you follow her through one of the greatest romances ever told. That, in a sentence, is "Lilac Time." First National's new special picture starring Colleen Moore now showing at the Majestic Theatre, Kowloon.

"Lilac Time" is truly great, and Colleen Moore is brilliant in a role that rises to emotional heights. This clever little comedienne, who sprang to fame in the flapper pictures of a few years ago, is justly entitled to a place among the best dramatic actresses of all time as the result of this great role in the pictureization of the stage play by Jane Cowl and Jane Muffin.

"Lilac Time" is a heart story—a romance, a gripping, poignant, compelling human narrative that has the background of the world war—a conflict that swirls and eddies behind a frail lass of Sunny France.

The successful motion picture is the one that takes you bodily from your theatre seat and carries you to the locale of the story. "Lilac Time" does just this. You find yourself living those hectic days over again with little Jeannine, thrilling to her joys and sympathizing in her sorrows. And Miss Moore's clever portrayal of the little French girl is responsible for this.

"The Rogue Song" Lawrence Tibbett, in the role of the singing bandit in "The Rogue Song," now being shown at the Queen's Theatre, dominates the whole picture with his superb singing and acting. The possessor of a powerful baritone voice of a singularly vibrant note, he easily captures the imagination of the audience, who yesterday at the opening performances, had nothing but praise for the singer and the fine dramatic role he portrays.

The story itself, is one out of the ordinary, and leaves the interest unrelaxed until the close. Filmed entirely in technicolor, "The Rogue Song" should continue to draw crowded houses for the remainder of the week. It should not be missed.

Your body can cure itself—this way.

The human organism, which is in perfectly normal health, has within itself the means to resist disease and destroy germs that attack it. And this resisting power lies in the blood-stream. The difference between the person who falls a victim to a disease and one who does not is chiefly a difference in the condition of their blood. Therefore, while various disease germs cause different ailments, the root factor lies in the blood, which by reason of its insufficiency or poorness, is unable to combat and throw off the disease germs when they make their attack.

Apart from accidents, the person who is blessed with an abundant supply of pure rich blood, keeps fit and well—always. Such a person is often said to possess a strong constitution, but actually, this strong constitution is really an effect—a condition resultant from and depending upon the maintenance of the high quality and abundant quantity of the blood.

Many people, while avoiding specific diseases, never really enjoy good health. Always they are cursed by head-aches, back-aches, debility, general weakness, apoplexy of indigestion, spasms of rheumatism that come and go at every little turn in the weather. In truth they are only half alive. And it is because their blood is below par—insufficient in quantity and quality. For such people there is nothing to equal the world-famed blood-builder Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This remedy, with half-a-century of world-wide confidence behind it, offers a means of escape from these miseries. Let Dr. Williams' Pink Pills set your feet on the happy road to health without delay. It costs so little to test them, so why go on suffering. Obtainable from all chemists.

ANOTHER GERMAN DISASTER.

MINE EXPLOSION IN SAABRUECKEN.

Cologne, Oct. 25. To-day is a day of mourning throughout Germany, being the occasion of the burial of 258 victims of the Aisdorf mine explosion, the majority of whom will be laid in a common grave. It is estimated that 10,000 mourners will attend, including foreign representatives. The Church services will be broadcast.—Reuter.

Another Explosion.

Berlin, Oct. 25. While 150,000 people were attending the funeral at Aisdorf of the 258 victims of the recent mine explosion, another similar disaster occurred at Maybach mine near Saarbruecken, entombing 83 miners. Twenty dead and 90 injured have been recovered from the mine and it is estimated that 50 are still missing.

It is now feared that there are 90 miners still entombed in the mine and that all are dead.—Reuter.

Gas Hampers Rescuers.

Saarbruecken, Oct. 26. There were about 1,200 workers in the Maybach mine at the time of the explosion. Over 1,000 reached the surface. The mine is now on fire and many of the bodies that have been brought up were burned beyond recognition. Many of the rescued were terribly burned and in a dying condition. Gas is hampering the rescuers.

The mine was handed over to the French for 15 years under the terms of the Treaty of Versailles.—Reuter.

Deathroll Reaches 90.

Berlin, Oct. 26. The death roll in the Maybach mine is now ninety. Twenty men are missing, and it is feared are dead.—Reuter.

HOME POLITICS.

PARLIAMENT REASSEMBLES TO-MORROW.

London, Oct. 25. Parliament re-assembles on Tuesday in an atmosphere of political uncertainty.

The tariff controversy threatens rather the disruption of the Conservative than the Government, but the latter is credited with the intention of submitting an advanced programme, including the repeal of the Trade Disputes Act and Electoral Reform, which promises a stormy session and is certain to meet with determined opposition on the part of the House of Lords. Then its declaration of policy as regards Palestine has now provided a political sensation of the first magnitude, with Mr. Lloyd George and General Smuts backing up the protest of Mr. Baldwin, Mr. Austen Chamberlain, and Mr. Amery.

Though there has been little Labour criticism, undoubtedly a considerable section of the Labour Party are sympathetic to the Zionists—hence the talk of the possibility of an early election has been revived, but how this can be brought about is another matter, since the Government cannot be defeated in the House of Commons only by a Conservative-Liberal combination, and there is no sign at present of a desire of the Liberals to eject the Government.

Furthermore, with the Round Table Conference sitting, and unemployment steadily growing blacker, neither of the Opposition parties is anxious to appeal to the country; therefore, it is expected that the Opposition will harass the Government by question and answer with a view to extorting concessions, but they are not likely to combine in an amendment to the Address in Reply to the Speech from the Throne, which might mean the defeat of the Government and its resignation or the dissolution of Parliament.

Mr. Baldwin Supported.

London, Oct. 25. Lord Elibank and Lord Melchett, who are among the Conservative critics of Mr. Stanley Baldwin's recent pronouncements on the questions of tariff modifications and Imperial preference, have issued a statement cordially welcoming Mr. Baldwin's latest declaration that he would negotiate with the Dominions with a free hand for closer economic unity in all respects.

Lord Beaverbrook, whose Empire crusade movement has hitherto had the support of Lord Elibank and Melchett, has rejected Mr. Baldwin's proposal. Mr. Baldwin will address his supporters on the whole subject of party policy next Tuesday. British Wire.

EDITOR LEAVING.

PRESENTATION TO MR. EVANS BY DAILY PRESS STAFF.

The staff of the Hongkong Daily Press on Saturday took the opportunity of making a presentation of a set of blackwood tables and tea-pots to their departing Editor, Mr. D. J. Evans, who is leaving the Colony next month.

In asking Mr. Evans to accept the gifts, Mr. R. F. Forbes paid a tribute to the splendid work done by him during his service on the Hongkong Daily Press. His unassuming nature, his capacity for work, and his readiness to give a helping hand and sympathetic hearing to members of the staff had endeared him to one and all, and they were sorry not only because they were losing a brilliant journalist but also because they were losing a true friend. On behalf of the staff, Mr. Forbes wished Mr. Evans health and success in his new post in Shanghai.

Mr. Evans expressed thanks for the gifts, which, he said, would serve to remind him of his pleasant connection with the staff and also of the loyal support he had received from them during his stay in Hongkong.

FUTURE OF INDIA.

INDIAN PRINCES MEET IN LONDON.

London, Oct. 25. The meeting of the leading Indian Princes in London this morning marks the preliminary stage of the Indira Round Table Conference, representing all shades of political thought in Britain and India, opening on November 12, which the Postmaster-General, Mr. H. R. Lees Smith, in a speech last night, described as the most important event in the world.

He said Britain was seeking to "press into a few years, political progress which many other countries have taken centuries, and while we are doing it to retain in the Indian sub-continent a unity which Europe herself is still very far from having achieved."

The total delegation of 89 is larger than the total of the Naval Conference, and is expected to break up into sectional sub-committees like the Imperial Conference, though in deference to the democratic spirit of the gathering, the Government has refrained from embarking on anything in the nature of a cut and dried programme. Reuter.

Riots in Bombay.

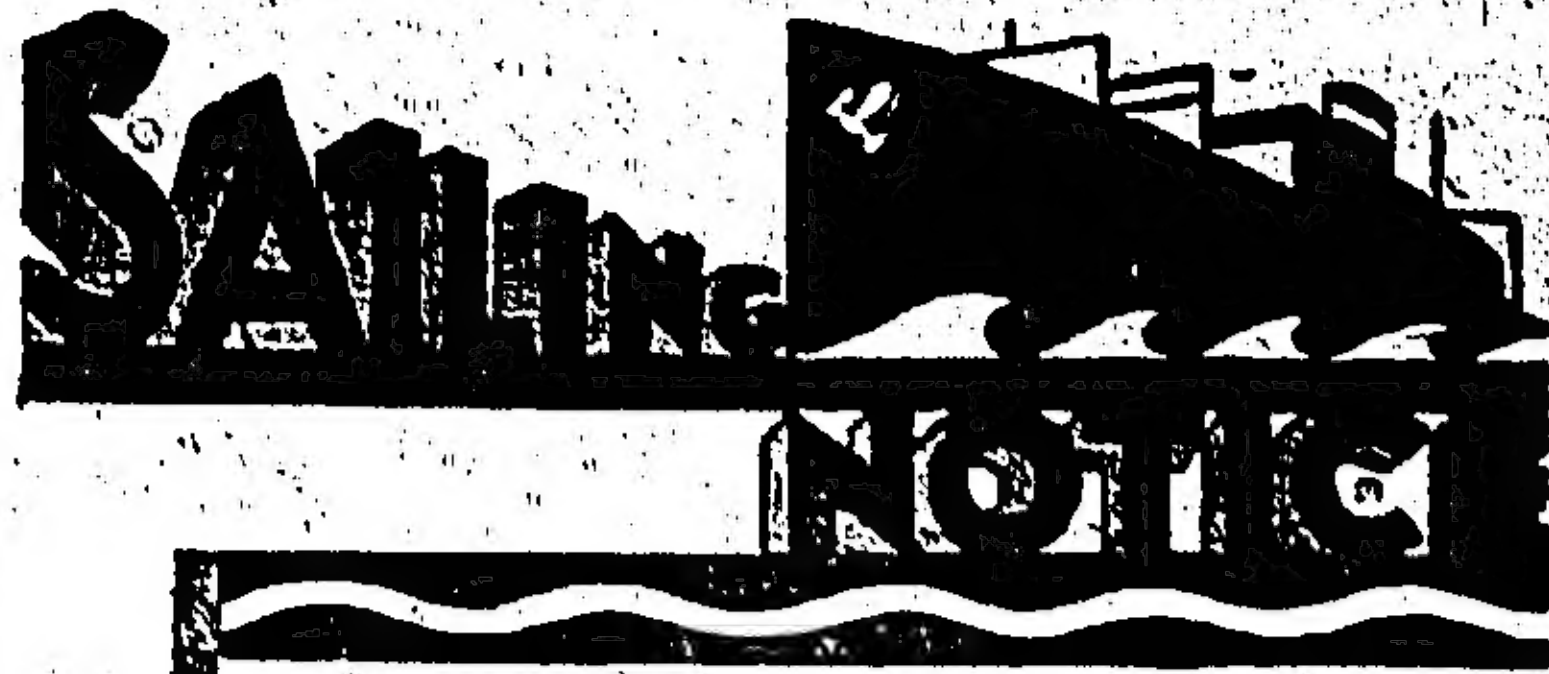

Bombay, Oct. 26. Altogether 235 persons were injured, of whom 155 have been sent to hospital while 35 men and 22 women were arrested, in the course of police charges with lathis to enforce the ban on the much-heralded ceremony of saluting the National flag by Congress volunteers, on the esplanade maidan, under the auspices of the Congress War Council, which was recently declared an illegal organisation.

The police formed a cordon round the women demonstrators before arresting them. Reuter.

Sen Gupta Arrested.

DELIBERATE LIES IN COURT.

WITNESS FINED FOR PERJURY
IN ASSAULT CASE.

The acquittal of the accused and the finding of one of the witnesses of the prosecution for perjury was the final result of the case in which Herbert Percival, stoker of H.M.S. Herald, was alleged before Mr. Lindsell on Saturday to have assaulted a barber of Wanchai.

The defendant was alleged to have obtained a packet of cigarettes from the complainant's stall and when asked for payment struck the seller.

Further evidence was given by Chan Fook, a barber in the complainant's employ. After corroborative evidence the witness was questioned by the Magistrate as to a cut on the defendant's cheek.

His Worship: Defendant's cheek was cut open; can you explain that?

Witness: I don't know.

You offer no explanation for that at all? Was there any trouble with anyone of the naval men except the one you saw take the cigarettes?—No.

You do not explain how his cheek was cut open?—I don't know.

Any one strike him?—I did not see any one strike him.

Was he knocked down?—Possibly; he may have been.

What do you mean he may have been? Did you see him knocked down?—No.

You must have seen it, you were there.—He may have fallen on the ground.

Fined for Perjury.

His Worship pointed out to the witness that it had been proved beyond doubt that the defendant had had his cheek cut. The witness replied, "I saw defendant knock against a glass show case as he struck the complainant."

His Worship reprimanded the witness and pointed out to him that a few minutes before he had told the Court that he had no idea what had happened to the defendant's cheek. "Why do you lie like that?" sternly asked his Worship.

"A minute ago you said you didn't know; you did not see it. Now speak the truth! Did you see him cut his cheek or not?"

Witness: I did not see him.

His Worship: First you said you did not, then you said you did and now you say you did not again. Which is true?—I did not see.

Now that was just an absolute lie, that the showcase was broken?—It was broken.

Detective Sergeant Clark informed his Worship that a show case had been broken, but if the defendant had fallen into it as alleged by the witness he would have had his face severely cut.

His Worship: How do you say that showcase came to be broken?

Witness: A piece of the stool flew against the glass.

He (defendant) did not fall against it as you said a minute ago?—No.

Then you told a deliberate lie just now when you said he banged against it. You told three different stories. I fine you $10; first one thing and then another.

MORE MISSIONARIES CAPTURED.

ANOTHER BANDIT COUP
IN HONAN.

Hankow, Oct. 25. A Catholic Father who escaped from Loshan, in South Honan, ten minutes before the entry of bandits, reports that the Rev. K. N. Tvedt, and Miss Evenson, of the Lutheran United Mission, failed to escape and, it is presumed, were captured.—Reuter.

Peking, Oct. 25. The U.S. Consul in Hankow received a letter on October 24 from Loshan, signed by Father Tvedt and Miss Evenson, dated October 18, stating that they were in the hands of brigands belonging to the First Red Army, who were holding them "because of financial difficulties."

The Reds demanded $300,000 ransom.

The Rev. Tvedt says that he is a Norwegian subject, though in an American organization.

It is understood that two American Catholics are registered as being at Loshan—Thomas M. Megan and Joseph V. Henkels. No definite news of them has been received, but it is known that Megan was there on October 15.

One Catholic priest climbed over the city wall just as the bandits were entering the town. He is believed to be one of these two.—Reuter.

Hankow, Oct. 26. The American Consulate has received a telegram stating that Miss Evenson has been released and has arrived at Sinyang. The Rev. Mr. Tvedt is still held captive.—Reuter.

Peking, Oct. 25. The Italian Legation announces that it has received the information that Father Brunetti, of the Italian Catholic Mission at Nanchang, in south-west Honan, has been liberated.

Father Brunetti was captured by brigands sometime ago. The Legation made representations to the Chinese Government on the matter.—Reuter.

You keep contradicting yourself. Fined $10 or seven days.

Defendant Discharged.

Mr. L. F. Quinn, butcher on board the s.s. Doric Star, who was standing outside the Seamen's Institute, gave evidence on behalf of the defendant and intimidated that he saw a crowd of Chinese attacking some sailors. He noticed the complainant strike the defendant from behind.

The defendant, in the witness box, denied the charge and said that the complainant suddenly accused him of having taken a packet of cigarettes. Witness told the complainant that he must be mistaken as he (defendant) was a non-smoker.

His Worship said that whether or not the defendant was the man who had actually taken the packet of cigarettes without paying for it had not been established. Any way the complainant and all his witnesses had deliberately lied to the Court in maintaining that they did not know how the defendant had come by his injuries and on that his Worship could not convict. If the prosecution told lies they could not get the assistance of the Court.

The defendant was accordingly discharged.

REPORTS DENIED.

SOVIET EMBASSY RESENTS
JOWETT STORY.

London, Oct. 25.

In connexion with Press reports of the alleged arrest of the young Briton, Master Christopher Jowett, on the trans-Siberian Railway, en route to Peking, the Soviet Embassy in London states that these are absolutely unfounded.

"Mr. Jowett was never arrested. He lost his passport and was unable to cross the frontier, and had to wait at Chita until the identification documents sent him by the British Consulate authorities in Manchuria reached him there, when he was able to continue his journey."

[Nevertheless Jowett was unnecessarily detained and is now seriously ill as the result of the poor accommodation given him during his 24 days' detention.]

FOOCHOW BEING MODERNISED.

BROAD STREETS AND BIG NEW BUILDINGS.

COMMUNISM INLAND.

Foochow, Oct. 22.
The up-country situation leaves much room for improvement.
Communists are still active, openly or secretly. There is much to cause depression, but at least we can record progress and development along the line of modernising
the city of Foochow.

Having been absent from Foochow for over a year, one is perhaps in a better position to perceive the progress that has been made in some directions. A ride on a ricksha yesterday into the city gave one a great surprise.
The place is being transformed.
Where one remembers narrow streets, crooked, crowded, badly paved, with steps up and down, there are now fine straight thoroughfares, 60 feet broad, with good sidewalks, smooth, level pavements, policemen on point duty at dangerous corners, and motor cars and motor buses (the latter scarcely worthy of the new age) hastening to and fro at a dangerous pace. To facilitate control of the traffic, lights of a type I have not seen elsewhere have been installed in the middle of the street, and the police not only have little "islands" to stand on, but even have cover over their heads, very welcome, no doubt, in hot or rainy weather.

The north side of the River Min, near the end of the Bridge of Ten Thousand Ages, is being reclaimed, and large buildings have already been erected between the Horse Road and the River. Part of the bridge itself has disappeared before the encroaching land.
The plan is to reclaim enough for the construction of adequate wharfs with three new roads between them and the existing Horse Road. If this is accompanied by successful working of the Min River Conservancy, which has done much towards the opening of the river to ocean-going steamers, Foochow may have a more prosperous future than present conditions seem to indicate.

The place where the South Gate of the city once stood is completely metamorphosed. A sort of "circus" has been made, with a grass plot and trees in the middle.
A monument will eventually stand in the centre.—Our Own Correspondent.

BAD EFFECTS OF PROHIBITION.

DEATHS FROM ALCOHOLISM INCREASE.

New York, Oct. 23.
Frederick Hoffman, statistician of the Prudential Life Insurance Company, announced to-day that deaths from alcoholism in the United States have increased 300 per cent. since 1930.

Whatever beneficial effects there might have been from prohibition are gradually weakening, Hoffman asserted. Although the early effects of prohibition were beneficial, he said, the death rate from alcoholism is returning to the pre-prohibition level.

Without saying so directly, the announcement made by Hoffman indicated that modification of the existing prohibition laws would probably prove beneficial to the health of the nation. The announcement was received with interest and it was given wide spread publicity.

IMPORTANT TALK AT TSINGTAO.

CHIANG AND CHANG
TO MEET.

MUCH POLITICAL INTEREST IN COMING PARLEY.

ANTI-"RED" MOVE.

Shanghai, Oct. 26.
Considerable political interest is attached to the coming conference between Marshal Chiang Kai-shek and General Chang Hsueh-liang at Tsingtao. It is understood that Marshal Chiang has telegraphed to General Chang suggesting that he should proceed to Tsingtao in about a week's time.

Marshal Chiang Kai-shek intends to take the opportunity of his visit to Tsingtao to travel along the Tsinanfu-Tsingtao and Tientsin-Pukow Railways and to inspect the Nationalist armies en route.

General Chang Hsueh-liang is likely to consent to the suggested conference, in view of the fact that Tsingtao is under the sphere of influence of the Manchurian naval forces.

Conference Items.

The conference will discuss the disposition of the Nationalist and Manchurian armies in North China and the steps to be taken to deal with the Shantung and Kuominchun armies now consolidating their position in Shansi Province.

Mr. Wu Te-chen, Marshal Chiang Kai-shek's personal envoy to Manchuria, passed through Tientsin yesterday en route to Mukden to arrange the coming conference at Tsingtao.

Canton Leaders.

The Civil Governor of Canton, General Chan Ming-shu, is remaining at Shanghai awaiting the return of Marshal Chiang Kai-shek from Feng Hwa to confer with the Nanking Government Chairman on military affairs in Kwangtung and Kwangsi.

The Commander of the 61st Nationalist Division (Kwangtung), General Chiang Kwang-nai, a supporter of the Canton Governor, is also remaining at Shanghai. General Chan Ming-shu has expressed the intention of attending the Fourth Kuomintang Plenary Session at Nanking some time in November.

There has been no further information regarding the rumours of the return to the political arena of Marshal Li Chai-sum, who is now said to be in Nanking.

Anti-"Red" War.

An elaborate scheme for the complete suppression of Communist elements in Central China has been worked out by the Nationalist Commanders in Hankow, and in the not distant future the military leaders Hsueh, Hupeh, Honan, Fukien and Kwangtung will adopt concerted efforts to exterminate Communist bands under the notorious leadership of Chu Tak and Mo Tsung-tung.

The war against the Communists will commence very shortly,
when the armies from Hunan, Hupeh and Kiangsi will be the first to strike.

Aeroplanes have been sent from Hankow to relieve the tension at Kianfu, which was captured and looted by Communists.

Future of Shantung.

The future of Shantung Province, which has been more or less assigned to the Manchurian Provincial Government by Nanking, is under consideration by General
Chang Hsueh-liang.
The Manchurian Government Council has expressed the inten-

KWANGSI PEACE REPORTS.

REGARDED AS PREMATURE IN WUCHOW.

YUNNANESE DEFEAT.

Wuchow, Oct. 23.

News of peace in Kwangsi appears to be rather premature. At the same time that reports are reaching us from other places that hostilities have ceased, war actually reigns inland.

The Kwangsi army, according to rumour, succeeded in securing the ammunition of the Yunnanese troops, and thus caused the retreat of the latter from Nanning to Fosoh. Thus, as far as the Yunnanese are concerned, the siege of Nanning is lifted for the present.
It is reported that a thousand Yunnanese were disarmed and heavy loss of life was suffered.

According to information received in business circles, by smuggling arms in rice bags to a market near Kwei Hsien, Kwangsi plainclothes men have succeeded in driving a wedge into the Kwangtung Army, and rumours say that they have since taken Kwei Hsien.

Yesterday, a large number of the 63rd Division hurriedly left Wu-chow, making towards Kwei Ping on the West River.

Kwangsi's latest effort seems to have been badly timed, but is no doubt due to the retreat of the Yunnanese, and also to a desire for revenge on the Kwangtung Army for the spoliation of Kwangsi cities.

While the news of the capture of Kwei Hsien is not confirmed, the possibility of its fall is seen by the hurried moving up the West River of the 63rd Division, as well as the presence of the entire Air Squadron at Wuchow. For a time, the Kwangtung planes used a landing field at Kwei Hsien.—Our Own Correspondent.

CONSUL'S NARROW ESCAPE.

REVOLVER INCIDENT IN SAN FRANCISCO.

San Francisco, Oct. 22.

A bullet, crashing through the window of his office, to-day narrowly missed Juan Anino, Consul General for Guatemala.

After an investigation police announced that the bullet, believed to have been a stray, came from the offices of the Japanese Con-sulate, just across the street from the Guatemalan Consulate.

The shooting is believed to have been entirely accidental although there are no clues as to who fired the gun. No damage was caused although Consul General Anino had a hair-raising few minutes.

Investigations indicate that Anino had no enemies and that relations between the Japanese and Guatemalan Consulates are entirely friendly.

San Francisco, Oct. 23.

An attache of the Japanese Consulate here admitted to-day that he accidentally fired a shot into the window of the Guatemalan Consulate last night.

The attache, whose name was not disclosed, was handling a revolver when it was accidentally discharged. The bullet ricocheted from a monument into the Gua-temalan Consulate. Consul General
Wakasugi called on Consul General Anino of Guatemala to-day and apologised.

tion of permitting Generals Han Fu-chu and Shih Yu-shan to continue with the garrisoning of Shantung, and the last-named General is at present conferring with General Chang Hsueh-liang at Mukden. While the Shantung Generals are pledging support to both Nanking and Mukden, their military expenses will be paid by Nanking.
